

MyTeam+

An integrated team approach to eLearning development.

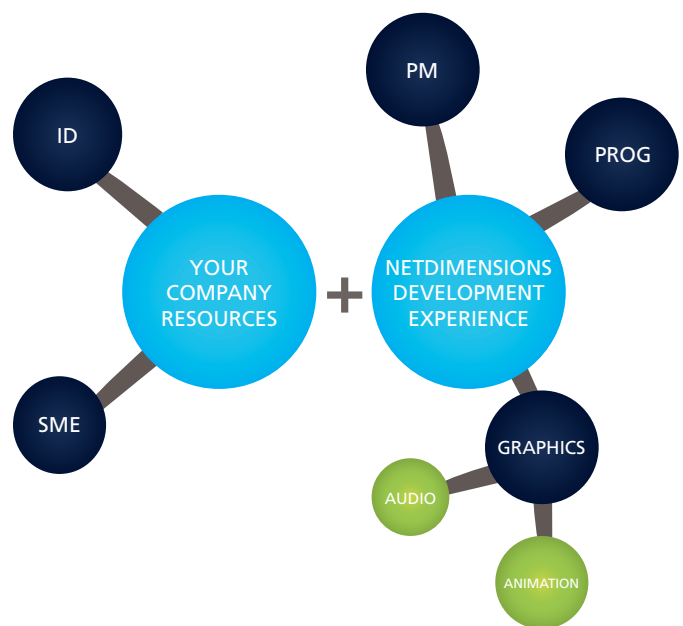

Ensuring the success of your eLearning development program.

If you are like many organizations that have made the decision to develop eLearning with in-house staff using available off-the-shelf tools, you've learned that this effort can be wrought with challenges – training staff on new authoring tools, resolving technical issues, providing consistent creative treatments and instructional design, and simply keeping up with requests from your internal customers. Often times team members have other responsibilities as well, further complicating the job.

NetDimensions can provide support services that give your team what they need to be successful. MyTeam+ provides for as much or as little team support from NetDimensions as you need.

The MyTeam+ program integrates our resources with yours to empower your team and to ensure the success of your eLearning development program.

We'll look at your current requirements and resources and create a MyTeam+ program suited to address your specific needs. Integrating our nearly ten years of eLearning development experience with your team's special skills, combined with useful and efficient tools and processes is what MyTeam+ is all about.

MyTeam+ Services

- Development Strategy and Planning — We'll help you design the most cost-effective and efficient eLearning development solution for your organization.
- Training and Mentoring — Helping your designers and subject matter experts get up-to-speed with tools and processes to be more productive and efficient.
- Creative Support — Graphics, audio narration, Flash animation, and video production assistance as needed.
- Technical Assistance — SCORM integration and testing, legacy course conversion, application programming, SaaS, LMS and more.
- Staff Augmentation — Permanent placement, contract to hire, or W2 Full/Part time contractor.

Staff Augmentation Program

As an eLearning services company, NetDimensions has worked with many clients over the years to fully appreciate the needs and challenges learning organizations are faced with to fulfill business goals and project requirements.

Staffing requirements and decisions regarding the use of external outsourced resources affect the equation to determine level of effort, delivery schedules, level of learning, interactivity and budget. Deciding the best use of resources and budget against the needs and priority of a project can be a perplexing problem.

As a custom content development company, NetDimensions is often faced with the same challenges. NetDimensions has taken the breadth of those experiences and created MyTeam+ Staffing; a program created to extend our range of services into the area of staff augmentation and support.

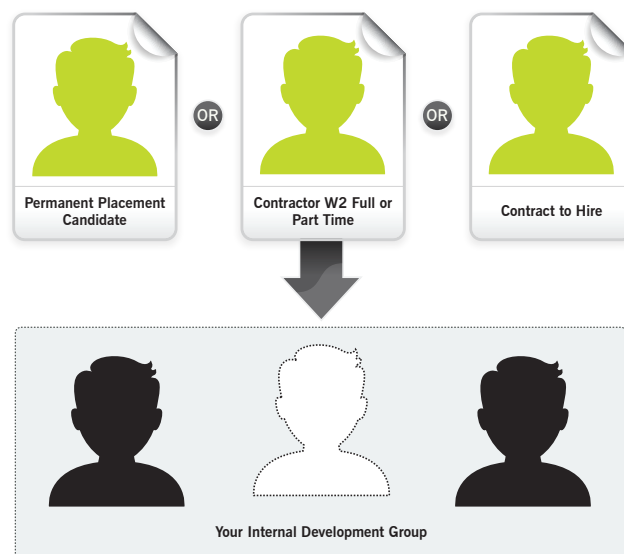

Unlike a conventional staffing or recruiting company, NetDimensions is primarily an eLearning services company. It draws on its own staff and pool of contract resources and industry contacts and associations to match the right person(s) to a specific requirement. Consequently, each engagement is very focused and targeted.

NetDimensions considers the business goals and project requirements with its clients first to understand what best possible combination of resources will work best for each individual situation. This could be a number of scenarios that could involve a full-time placement, a W2 contractor, a contract to hire, or a combination of contractor supported by NetDimensions eLearning resources to supplant specific requirements.

Each candidate is supported by NetDimensions own award winning staff extending your resource with the experience of our eLearning development team as needed.

Staffing Program Features

Contract to Hire

If you would rather have the opportunity to contract a resource before making a hiring decision either because of immediate work, but still awaiting approval for the permanent position in your budget or simply because you would like to evaluate a resource first without worrying about separation policies should the candidate not work out, NetDimensions can form a program to work best for you.

W2 Contracting and Consulting

We can place skilled resources either on site or remotely from our offices to support short term projects or long term needs.

Full-time Placement

We'll find a permanent staffing resource to fill permanent position requirements.
